Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 01 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Patchy mist and fog tonight. Scattered showers on Friday.

This Evening and Tonight:
A largely cloudy night in Norfolk and parts of Suffolk, with perhaps a few outbreaks of light rain or drizzle near the coast but some clear spells elsewhere, prolonged in the west with mist and fog in places. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Friday:
Any early mist and fog will dissipate quickly, followed by sunny spells for most. Some scattered showers in the afternoon, perhaps heavy in East Anglia later. Warm. A dry evening. Maximum temperature 25 deg C (77 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Often warm by day, with bright or sunny spells but unsettled with showers, these widespread and locally heavy. Feeling humid. Fewer showers on Monday, perhaps largely dry.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.